Dear Lyndon,

As you will see from the message I am forwarding, it has been suggested I email you direct to see if we can arrange a suitable time to meet up. As you may realise, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] told me [REDACTED] had a very good meeting with you a few weeks ago when you discussed amongst other things, the problem [REDACTED]

Nothing has changed in this regard, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

I am off the Island [REDACTED] through to the following weekend, but am available [REDACTED] onwards if you could perhaps give me a couple of times when we could meet up? You have my email address now, and my mobile is [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Best wishes
