Dear Senator Farnham

Our Group Managing Director, Ian Plenderleith, is hoping to arrange a mutually convenient conference call with you. The context of the call would be to discuss your recent statement in respect of utility companies and their customers flexibility for payment terms including payment deferral.

We would appreciate it if you are able to give this your consideration and if you could advise us of a date and time that would be most suitable for you and we will arrange to send out a conference invite.

We appreciate your assistance in this matter and look forward to hearing from you.

With kind regards

Richard, Dan, Darren

Jersey Gas have had no engagement with Govt. of Jersey yet. They are very keen to do so and wish Government to understand their operation and importance in supply - 50% to business.

They also want to discuss how they can help consumers right now. Please meet Ian, representing a valued member of the Jersey Chamber of Commerce. Ian please meet the officers I would recommend engaging with at this crucial time.

Can I leave you all to pick up and engage. Chamber are happy to support where and if required, and will of course pass on any information via our website and social media channels as needed.

Good Afternoon [REDACTED]

Following up from your very informative briefings.

Jersey Gas are aware of a statement by Senator Farnham with reference to the utility companies working alongside government to give customers flexibility in their payment terms, including payment deferrals.

To date we've not been approached by Government.

Since this statement Ian Plenderleith, Managing Director of Islands Energy Group has been trying to engage with Senator Farnham, unfortunately without response.

No doubt ED are very busy at this time but we really do need dialogue as soon as possible so we can understand what this actually means along with other considerations for customers and businesses during this difficult time.

I am hoping that you may be able to provide me with another contact within Government who would be appropriately placed to engage with.

Ian's contact number is [REDACTED] or he can be contacted by email Ian.Plenderleith@[REDACTED]

Alternatively I can be contacted anytime on the numbers below or this email.

I look forward to any support you can give us in taking this forward.

Kind regards

Dear Ian,

Thanks for your e-mail and your separate letter to Senator Farnham.

You are right to point out that utilities are not included within the scope of Payroll Co-funding Phase 2. This extends beyond Government owned utilities will see Jersey Gas and others excluded from the scheme. I note that a similar exclusion exists in the Isle of Man and Guernsey as matters stand.

As part of a larger undertaking we would ordinarily expect IEG to have access to alternative sources of funding to manage its business through this challenging period. We would be keen to understand what steps have already been taken on this front and ahead of any further discussion on financial support to see financial statement for the past 3 years and a statement of 2020 YTD vs same period 2019 so as to better understand the level of financial detriment.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Subject: RE: Unite claims re Jersey Gas

Thanks, Richard and George. Are you happy with something along these lines:

"The Government of Jersey are continuing to work on the design and operation of the Government co-funded payroll scheme. The operation of the scheme is subject to certain conditions which will be dependent on the exact circumstances of any company and particularly the business activity conducted by that company. Utility companies are not included within equivalent schemes in Guernsey and the Isle of Man. However, given the strategic importance of Jersey Gas to the Island, the Government of Jersey is working with the utility to examine their current situation.

"In the meantime, enquiries regarding eligibility for the co-funded payroll scheme should be sent to economy@gov.je as per the Government of Jersey website."

Thanks,

This should also reference that utility companies are not included within equivalent schemes in Guernsey and the Isle of Man.

I am in touch with Ian Plenderleith of IEG / Jersey Gas and have asked them for sight of their company financials to examine the level of financial detriment their company is experiencing.

Hi Cathy

This needs Richard C's input as the potential here for support may be beyond simply Payroll Co-funding – given the strategic importance of Jersey Gas to the Island.

Richard – see below from Cathy. Can you advise further.

Morning George,

Would you like me to respond with something generic? Here's a suggestion, slightly edited, you made for another media query:

"The Government of Jersey are continuing to work on the design and operation of the Government co-funded payroll scheme. The operation of the scheme is subject to certain conditions which will be dependent on the exact circumstances of any company and particularly the business activity conducted by that company. It will take time for the Government to publish full information on the operation of the schemes but enquiries regarding eligibility should be sent to economy@gov.je as per the Government of Jersey website."

Unite Press Release

Immediate release: Monday 6 April 2020

Treat Jersey gas workers equally on pay during coronavirus emergency, says Unite

Jersey's private sector gas workers should be treated the same as those employed by the state-owned utilities during the coronavirus emergency, Unite the union, urged today (Monday 6 April).

Unite has lent its weight to the campaign for workers at Jersey Gas and Kosangas Jersey to be eligible for the Phase 2 payroll co-funding scheme – the Channel Island's equivalent of the UK's coronavirus job retention scheme which guarantees furloughed workers 80 per cent of income.

Jersey Electricity and Jersey Water are owned by the States of Jersey Government, so these workers already receive state support, while privately-owned utilities, currently, don't have access to the scheme.

Unite regional coordinating officer Terry Keefe said: "Unite is lending its support to the gas companies in their bid to qualify for the Phase 2 payroll. They provide services to about half Jersey's businesses, including hotels and restaurants now closed, and are really under the financial cosh.

"The States government quickly needs to embrace private utility companies in Phase 2 for cash flow reasons to keep them afloat, otherwise our members could find themselves in desperate financial hardship.

"The future provision of gas by a highly skilled workforce will also be under threat.

"This is not the time for the States of Jersey Government to engage in short-termism – we need to retain the gas workers as they will be a vital cog in rebuilding the post-pandemic economy."

Unite has about 60 gas worker members on Jersey.

Hi Dan,

Please can you call Ian Plenderleith from IEG / Jersey Gas (see below) today to talk through expectations of support and acuteness of need?

Utilities are currently - and likely to remain - out of scope for Phase 2 of Payroll Co-funding. We have not heard any noise from Jersey Electricity or companies like Rubis (heating fuel) about cashflow pressures so a little odd to hear this from Jersey Gas so quickly into the crisis.

Key questions for me are:

- * What level of financial detriment are they seeing?
- * How do numbers compare to March 2019 and Q1 2019?
- * What level of reserves are in the business and parent group?
- * What level of profits were made in each of the last 3 years?
- * What level of dividends have been taken?
- * What approach have they made to their bankers and investors?

Utilities are out of scope for payroll support in Guernsey and the Isle of Man as far as I understand so would be interested to learn of parallel discussions they might be having elsewhere.

I don't want to outright refuse any request for support given their client base around St Helier and their role as part of our CNI.

Louise - cc'd in terms of energy policy

Thanks,

Richard

Dear Ian,

Thanks for your e-mail and your separate letter to Senator Farnham.

You are right to point out that utilities are not included within the scope of Payroll Co-funding Phase 2. This extends beyond Government owned utilities will see Jersey Gas and others excluded from the scheme. I note that a similar exclusion exists in the Isle of Man and Guernsey as matters stand.

As part of a larger undertaking we would ordinarily expect IEG to have access to alternative sources of funding to manage its business through this challenging period. We would be keen to understand what steps have already been taken on this front and ahead of any further discussion on financial support to see financial statement for the past 3 years and a statement of 2020 YTD vs same period 2019 so as to better understand the level of financial detriment.

I look forward to hearing from you.

They need to take action to protect their business, and need to understand what assistance if any is available from Government. Being part of the Co-Funded Payroll Scheme is their preferred option.

Whilst we need to see what he sends through, from what he says on the phone they do appear to be suffering significant detriment. They have 46 staff on the island, many of whom are effectively stood down at present as they are unable to carry out their standard engineering roles at present. If they are laid off to preserve the business this risks their future ability to operate as those engineers may be picked up by other industries with similar training needs / skillsets.

A high proportion of their business is commercial, including hospitality (hotels and restaurants). The impacts of home working and non-essential business closures have had a material impact on their business.

Dear Minister, Julian, Richard, Darren,

I feel it incumbent on Chamber to drop you a note of explain our position regarding our valued members, Jersey Gas.

I am today reassured by Ian Plenderleith, Group Managing Director of Islands Energy Group that contact has been once again made and that discussions will restart between yourselves.

Following conversations over the past two days, as members of Chamber, Ian had been very concerned that there was an absence of engagement, with what is after all, an essential supply to the island, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Their skilled local teams are critical not only now in being on emergency standby, but to be there upon economic recovery. They see that their exclusion from co-funding as an unfair decision, whilst they attempt to follow Government policy and maintain that workforce.

They reached out to Chamber eleven days ago, having had no engagement from Government prior to this. They once again reached out at the beginning of this week, as they described the situation to Chamber as very concerning and that they required access to urgent discussions with Government, which they were not getting.

At Chamber, we fully understand the pressures upon Government and appreciate the hard work being undertaken in such unprecedented times. We are keen to restart the Business Liaison Meetings, so that we can assist yourselves with industry knowledge and that we can better advise our members of the processes.

Hi [REDACTED]

Utilities were taken out because services were still needed, not because of GoJ equity. Interesting that he has this view as shareholders should be a source of support.

Jersey Gas are the first utility to approach us.

We can't take this any further until we have seen the financial information that I outlined in earlier note. [REDACTED]

Hi Richard,

From my discussion to date, they only appear to be asking (currently) to be included in the Co-Funded Payroll Scheme. On initial review this does not appear unreasonable given the critical nature of their business and the extent to which they report that they have been impacted. They do appear concerned about their ability to retain their staff through this challenging period.

The Jersey Gas 2019 accounts are in the process of being signed off, but Ian Plenderleith appears happy to provide both draft 2019 and copy of signed 2018 accounts for Jersey Gas. I hope to receive these tomorrow. I have not requested accounts for the parent company (IEG) but am happy to ask the question.

Please find attached my very initial thoughts based on my conversations with Ian yesterday. I will be looking again at information he has provided and will update considerations as soon as possible. What is the timescale for the finalisation of the scheme?

Thank you,

Morning mate,

Thought you could read last night's edition of the nightly Chamber update [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Chamber of Commerce

Office number [REDACTED]
www.jerseychamber.com

Begin forwarded message:

From: [REDACTED]@jerseychamber.com>
Date: 8 April 2020 at 18:46:35 GMT+1
Subject: Wednesday Update 8th April 2020

[REDACTED]

If you know someone needing this update – let me know, I'll add them. If you don't, let me know too.

It is the middle of the week and it's Wednesday in case they are blurring into just another day in paradise. As my diary reminded me today would have been the April Chamber Lunch. I would have had a glass of wine today, therefore I might shortly.

Chamber have further engaged today on the BBC and are engaged with Government as we await details on Phase 2, which we are assured will be before the Easter break. Tomorrow is that day, when it all becomes clear, when the details of the included, excluded and caveats are known. Big businesses and many households will depend on those details, so no pressure then. Chamber has been engaging with – that's lots of talking – with businesses big and small and with those in Government to make them as aware as they can be of the difficulties that exist. A fair amount of credit has to go to the handful of politicians in the frontline of the economy and the officers working through to deliver for as many as they can – and have me in their ear several times a day. Yesterday and today, we took up the concerns of Ferryspeed and Jersey Gas and many others, along with accountants, recruitment firms, architects, estate agents, school suppliers, local food producers, aviation companies and many more. Let's hope the questions, chats and wait has been worth it. Tomorrow then.

Finally, in this section the Employment and Skills Committee met today and discussed – well, employment and skills, both now and in the future. The overriding theme was 'this is about people' and looking after your people is paramount. Talk to them, help them where you can and mostly check and care about their wellbeing. If they are working remotely or just off, make sure you check on them and how they are coping.

News

Jersey banks have now increased their contactless payment limits to minimise the shared handling of card readers and help prevent the spread of COVID-19. Barclays, HSBC, Lloyds International, NatWest International and Santander International have all increased their limit from 30 to 45. Islanders will now be able to use contactless payments for payments up to 45 at a range of retailers, including Alliance, Co-Op, Sandpiper and Waitrose.

A huge shout out to GR8. [REDACTED] has given us some valued heads up on his work so far.

GR8 Foundations (GR8F) was set up last year as part of their CSR with the intent and strap line of 'supporting the community into employment' working with agencies such as JET, BTW, Skills Jersey and States of Jersey Prison helping those with barriers to employment in or back into work.

Now GR8F is supporting the community by providing a resource pool of qualified staff and have supplied staff people register at www.gr8jersey.com/gr8f/ To date they have employed 61 people across various sectors in the last two and a half weeks. Expect more news in the coming days.

Good morning Lyndon,

Here is the list.

Excludes public sector, utilities including telecoms, financial services, agriculture, food & fuel retailers, care providers, funeral services, head office activities, food manufacturing (including bakery), beverage and tobacco manufacturing, property developers, Wholesale of agricultural raw materials and live animals; Wholesale of information and communication equipment; Non-specialised wholesale trade; unspecified wholesale

Separately, we will consider [REDACTED] and Jersey Gas for loans rather than payroll support.

Dan and I spoke with Ian Plenderleith and [REDACTED], IEG CFO (parent co), on Thursday evening.

We have had some of the financial information we requested but not all of it. We are missing information on IEG's accounts / shareholding and information on the debt position within Jersey Gas / Kosingas.

We informed them that Phase 2 of the Co-Funded Payroll Scheme included an exclusion in respect to their sector. We also discussed that:

- * there may be an opportunity for them to access the special situations fund, but we needed to have an understanding of what their requirements for assistance were and when this might be required
- * they should speak both to their shareholders regarding sources of funding / equity injections and to existing lenders (both internal - if group related debt, and external) regarding options for varying / extending existing terms and additional financing to cover cash flow shortfalls
- * Jersey Gas should be able to access the business disruption loan guarantee scheme

They have 3 main concerns:

[REDACTED]

The third stems from a mix of the first and general uncertainty over the future.

They were going to take this away and talk with their board. We did reiterate that government support should be the last resort and that we would expect them to have exhausted other options first.

Dan and I have both been contacted by Ian Plenderleith again this morning requesting a short call this morning. Do let me know if you would like to be involved.

Thank you,

Hi Richard,

From my discussion to date, they only appear to be asking (currently) to be included in the Co-Funded Payroll Scheme. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] They do appear concerned about their ability to retain their staff through this challenging period.

The Jersey Gas 2019 accounts are in the process of being signed off, but Ian Plenderleith appears happy to provide both draft 2019 and copy of signed 2018 accounts for Jersey Gas. I hope to receive these tomorrow. I have not requested accounts for the parent company (IEG) but am happy to ask the question.

Please find attached my very initial thoughts based on my conversations with Ian yesterday. I will be looking again at information he has provided and will update considerations as soon as possible. What is the timescale for the finalisation of the scheme?

Thank you,

Dear Ian,

I understand that you have been in contact with both Richard Corrigan and Darren Scott (cc'd) regarding the scope of the phase 2 of the Payroll Co-Funding Scheme.

I have been asked to gather the following further information in respect to your request:

- * What level of financial detriment are Jersey Gas seeing?
- * How do numbers compare to March 2019 and Q1 2019 (revenue, profit and cash flow)? Please see attached document

- * What level of reserves are in the business and parent group? [REDACTED]
- * What level of profits were made in each of the last 3 years? [REDACTED]
- * What level of dividends have been taken? [REDACTED].
- * What discussions have Jersey Gas had with their bankers and investors regarding funding needs? [REDACTED]

Afternoon [REDACTED]

I spoke to Ian Plenderleith again last night, just before he went into a meeting with his shareholders.

So, we are in live conversations with Jersey Gas reference their exact needs and have told them that in order to progress their request we require full details of their financial position, including broader IEG information, details of their debt structure (is their debt internal or external) and clarity on exactly what their proposal for support includes. Once we have this we can make an assessment of their situation and provide some water-tight advice with a recommendation as to whether their case should be submitted to the Special Situations Fund. We are still awaiting some of this information, which I am chasing today.

I would suggest that until we have received the necessary data and completed our assessment we should hold-fire on a meeting, but send a holding response along the lines of thanking them for their letter and that the Minister understands their concerns and the urgency of the situation, but that he is aware of and pleased that Jersey Gas and officers are undertaking a financial needs assessment and that he will be happy to discuss the situation once the necessary due diligence has been completed.

Happy to proof a draft response.

Best,

Dan

Hi Lyndon,

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] We continue to work proactively with Jersey Gas and are in daily contact with Ian Plenderleith who has just sent through some additional financials for us to consider. Once we have got to the bottom of these tomorrow and properly assessed the debt structure and interest payments we will be in position to report back with a recommendation.

Best,

Hi Lyndon,

I would concur. Our objective needs to be to ensure that as many viable businesses survive to emerge the other side of the crisis, as well equipped as possible to take advantage of immediate market opportunities. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] I suspect that viable businesses can only survive on interventions and reserves for a limited period of time. Indeed, they may decide to close in spite of viability, as it is a high-risk policy to continue to run reserves down to borderline going concern levels or to take on significant debt, whilst there is uncertainty in what the new normal trading environment might look like going forward and in the absence of clarity around the type of stimulus and incentives that the Govt might put in place to assist the recovery.

Jersey Business are in a good place to provide us with the data and feedback that helps us understand the needs of SMEs in more granular detail [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Finally, can I just thank [REDACTED] and his team for the outstanding contribution that they have made to our collective economic response. They have been at the sharp end which must be very draining emotionally and really long and hard yards. We must make sure we fully utilise the experience, business intelligence and foresight gained by JBL in the front line, to inform evidence based economic policy going forward.

Best,

Dan

Hi Lyndon,

Apologies for the late night email.

I know you've been doing something on the co-funded payroll scheme which CoM is discussing tomorrow. Does this include anything which affects the position of Jersey Gas? [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] but equally know some are concerned for the jobs and service which more older people use.

Good afternoon,

I've not been able to access teams or work email today. So apologies if you have sent me anything today or over the weekend and I've not responded yet. I'll phone into the Ministerial at 1530. In the meantime, please find attached file note to update you on the Jersey Gas analysis.

[REDACTED] this can be used to craft a draft response to the question received, but the figures in the covid-19 impact section should be treated confidentially by all please.

In short, we are working very closely with Jersey Gas and are in very regular contact as we work through the data they have provided. The important point to note is that we are still awaiting some critical information as detailed in the note. Only once this is received will we be in a position to make a recommendation based upon their need.

Best,

Dan

Evening Lyndon,

Suggest the following:

Dear Geoff,

I note that you are bringing a proposition to the States supporting the inclusion of Jersey Gas in phase 2 of the Payroll Co-Funding Scheme. Before you do this, I thought it might be worth saying that I very much recognise the strategic importance and critical service that Jersey Gas provides to the Island. With this in mind my officers have been working very closely with Ian Plenderleith, the Group Managing Director of IEG the parent group to Jersey Gas.

Ian wrote to me on the 2nd April 2020, explaining the impact that the COVID-19 crisis was having on Jersey Gas. Following receipt of that letter officers made contact with Ian Plenderleith and have had held a large number of telephone and conference calls, including one this evening. The dialogue is ongoing and very positive. Requests for financial information have been made by officers initially with aim of assessing potential detriment under the Payroll Co-Funding Scheme, but once those scheme rules were published with the exclusion of all utility companies, the conversation moved to understanding the wider financial position of the Jersey Gas / IEG structure in order to consider whether it may be appropriate to provide funding under the Special Situation Fund or equivalent.

From the conversations this evening, it is clear that there are 3 key elements impacting on Jersey Gas, only one of which relates to payroll, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] So we need I think to take a proper strategic view of the business to address both the short, medium and long-term considerations facing Jersey Gas, rather than simply trying to address one element.

It is also important for Jersey Gas to explain what measures their shareholders are taking to address the current issues and what conversations they have had with their bankers, to ensure that the Govt is supporter of last resort and that the burden to the taxpayer is as low as is possible. Jersey Gas have this evening committed to provide this information by the end of the week and are comfortable working within the pacy timescales we have discussed with them. As such, I would respectfully ask you to withdraw your Proposition to allow us time to do the necessary due diligence to ensure we find the right sustainable, long-term solution.

Best,

Dan

Dear Geoff,

Further to our conversation earlier I wanted to confirm that I very much recognise the strategic importance and critical service that Jersey Gas provides to the Island. From the conversations with Ian this evening, it is clear that there are 3 key elements impacting on Jersey Gas, only one of which relates to payroll,

[REDACTED]. So we need, I think, to take a proper strategic view of the business to address both the short, medium and long-term considerations facing Jersey Gas, rather than simply trying to address one co-funded payroll element.

It is also important for Jersey Gas to explain what measures their shareholders are taking to address the current issues and what conversations they have had with their bankers, to ensure that our support of last resort and that the burden to the taxpayer is as low as is possible. Jersey Gas have this evening committed to provide this information by the end of the week and are comfortable working within the timescales we have discussed with them. As such, I would respectfully ask you to defer your Proposition to allow us time to do the necessary due diligence to ensure we find the right sustainable, long-term solution.

Many thanks,

KR,
Lyndon.

Subject: Jersey Gas - update

Dear Geoff,

Further to our conversation earlier I wanted to confirm that I very much recognise the strategic importance and critical service that Jersey Gas provides to the Island. With this in mind, my officers have been working very closely with Ian Plenderleith, the Group Managing Director of IEG the parent group to Jersey Gas.

Ian wrote to me on the 2nd April 2020, explaining the impact that the COVID-19 crisis was having on Jersey Gas. Following receipt of that letter officers made contact with him and have shared a good number of telephone and conference calls, including one this evening. The dialogue is ongoing and very positive. Requests for financial information have been made by officers initially with aim of assessing potential detriment under the Payroll Co-Funding Scheme, but once those scheme rules were published with the exclusion of all utility companies, the conversation moved to understanding the wider financial position of the Jersey Gas / IEG structure in order to consider whether it may be appropriate to provide funding under the Special Situation / Recovery Fund or equivalent.

From the conversations with Ian this evening, it is clear that there are 3 key elements impacting on Jersey Gas, only one of which relates to payroll,

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] So we need, I think, to take a proper strategic view of the business to address both the short, medium and long-term considerations facing Jersey Gas, rather than simply trying to address one co-funded payroll element.

It is also important for Jersey Gas to explain what measures their shareholders are taking to address the current issues and what conversations they have had with their bankers, to ensure that our support of last resort and that the burden to the taxpayer is as low as is possible. I spoke with Geoff yesterday evening and subsequently emailed him - I am hopeful that he will defer his proposition.

I also spoke with Dan and feel relatively comfortable although any further detail would be welcome just in case he decides to proceed.

Charlie,

Just for completeness briefing note attached for your information. This is a work in progress - as I say, I spoke to Ian Plenderleith yesterday evening reference the urgency of outstanding data. He accepts that the ball is in their court at this stage and that we can't make commitments until we understand the full picture. He is unaware of the potential Southern proposition, although it is worth noting that Guernsey have, by exception, included Guernsey Gas in their payroll scheme. I spoke to Monty yesterday too, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] I'll keep you updated as the situation develops.

I hope you are well.

Good afternoon,

I've not been able to access teams or work email today. So apologies if you have sent me anything today or over the weekend and I've not responded yet. I'll phone into the Ministerial at 1530. In the meantime, please find attached file note to update you on the Jersey Gas analysis.

[REDACTED] this can be used to craft a draft response to the question received, but the figures in the covid-19 impact section should be treated confidentially by all please.

In short, we are working very closely with Jersey Gas and are in very regular contact as we work through the data they have provided. The important point to note is that we are still awaiting some critical information as detailed in the note. Only once this is received will we be in a position to make a recommendation based upon their need.

Best,

Dan

Morning Cathy,

We've just received the below from Jersey Gas, stating that, due to not being given access to the co-funded payroll scheme, they are having to put up prices for customers.

Would the government like to comment on some of the statements made about it within the release?

[REDACTED]. We'd be more than happy if the Economic Development Minister would like to comment directly [REDACTED]

If we allow JG to access the payroll scheme then conditions must apply including confirmation that their prices will not increase in the short term.

Good afternoon,

Jersey Gas have announced that they are increasing their prices by 6.5% as of THIS Friday!

Is there anything that the Government of Jersey can do to help? Many people are on little to no income at the moment. Not to mention many being in rented accommodation with no choice in whether to have gas in their homes.

Surely the GoJ can step in to help islanders at a time like this?

Slightly amended version below..

The Government of Jersey is aware of the proposed increase to local gas prices of 6.5%, following the publication of a press release from Jersey Gas this morning. The company alleges that they are unable to access government support for their business, its customers and its staff during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Ministers have expressed disappointment that Jersey Gas continue to conduct discussions on financial support through the media rather than directly with the Government.

Jersey Gas has chosen not to provide Government with vital financial information on their business and their parent company, which has been requested on multiple occasions. This information is a necessity to progress any applications for government support during this crisis.

Jersey Gas is owned by Isle of Man based International Energy Group, which is in turn owned by a private equity fund. Ahead of committing taxpayer support, the Government needs to understand what investor or lender support has already been sought by IEG and its owners and why Jersey Gas does not have access to sufficient working capital of its own. This information has also not been received from Jersey Gas.

The Minister for Economic Development, Senator Lyndon Farnham, commented:

"The overarching aims of our government support schemes are to ensure businesses do not close, islanders continue to remain employed, and can maintain their livelihoods. I ask Jersey Gas to engage constructively with Government and to show transparency of financial information and transactions in order that a full and considered response can be provided to them as soon as possible. I would urge Jersey Gas not to follow through with the planned increase while discussions are taking place".

"A price increase of this magnitude comes at a time when many Islanders are experiencing financial insecurity and is particularly insensitive. I am not prepared to see islanders suffer added hardship during this difficult time and will consider all steps available to Government – including those provided for under the Jersey Gas Company (Jersey) Law 1989 – to see that Jersey Gas acts appropriately towards all of its stakeholders".

Thanks,
Lyndon.

I would urge Jersey Gas not to follow through with the planned increase while discussions are taking place.

"A price increase of this magnitude comes at a time when many Islanders are experiencing financial insecurity and is particularly insensitive. I am not prepared to see islanders suffer added hardship during this difficult time and will consider all steps available to Government – including those provided for under the Jersey Gas Company (Jersey) Law 1989 – to see that Jersey Gas acts appropriately towards all of its stakeholders".

Regards,

Cathy Keir
