Subject: Delegation of responsibilities

Hi Steve

Following our discussion about delegating responsibilities, I would like to delegate to you political oversight of mental health services including strategic planning, operational delivery and management of the associated workforce. I would like that responsibility to extend specifically to the following:

1. Refreshing the mental health strategy
2. Refreshing the suicide prevention strategy
3. Developing a wellbeing strategy
4. Developing a dementia strategy
5. Membership of the Mental Health Improvement Board
6. Oversight of recruitment, retention and training programmes of the associated workforce
7. Ensuring development and co-production of mental health and wellbeing services with all stakeholders including third sector partners and GPs
8. Considering applications under the Mental Health Law and making associated ministerial decisions
9. Oversight of the transition arrangements for CAMHS and ensuring the smooth working of ongoing liaison between HCS and CYPES in relation to CAMHS
10. Promoting good mental health and wellbeing generally in all areas of government policy and in Island life
11. Dealing with ministerial questions and enquiries made by States members, media or members of the public
12. Dealing with Scrutiny enquiries and answering related questions at Scrutiny hearings

As minister, I would need to retain overall political oversight for all HCS business and I would ask you to keep me fully briefed on all issues related to the areas which are delegated to you. I would also propose to specifically reserve decision making powers in two areas that relate to your delegated responsibility:

- a. The location of mental health estate facilities where considered in conjunction with the future hospital
- b. Ongoing reviews of mental health and capacity legislation and the implementation of that legislation

Can we discuss the above and, if agreed, I will ask [REDACTED] to prepare the necessary documents. I would have every confidence in your ability to drive forward this vitally important work and look forward to a closer working.

Kind regards

Richard
