Your comments

Plemont is in the Green Belt of Jersey. Building houses would never be allowed today. Having a previous building there is not a sufficiently good reason to allow more building what ever the law.

The North Coast of Jersey is part of our island heritage and the area should not be developed.

The colony of puffins nearby is already in decline, further development will impact negatively on all the local flora and fauna.

As a frequent user of the paths along the coast and a member of the Societe Jersiasse botany section I believe our coastal areas provide a haven for wildlife. This is becoming increasingly important in our overcrowded island.

This is an excellent opportunity for the new Planning Committee to show that they listen to the public and find a way to reject this application.
