Your comments:

Please do not let this happen. Everywhere one goes there are new housing estates. The property pages of the JEP are full of houses for sale, we do not need any more luxury properties, there are enough already and the market is stagnant. Just for once do not bow to the speculators and developers, say enough is enough, and let this headland return to nature for future generations to enjoy. The approach road is narrow and will become congested and the estate a blot on the landscape no matter how much it is manicured.

The holiday camp was built when Jersey was an entirely different place not ruled by money and developers but by farmers and agriculture and a much smaller population. No-one envisaged the loss of so many green fields and open spaces. Now is the time to remove this eyesore and tell your grandchildren "we did it for you".

Please listen to the public.
