Dear Sirs

18 January 2012

Planning Application P/2011/1673 – Development of Plemont.

Once again, I wish to object to the latest application to build 28 luxury houses on the headland at Plemont.

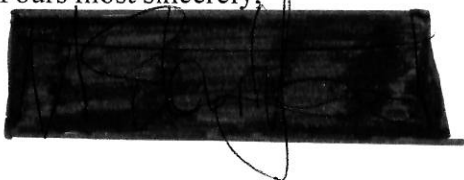

Having previously attended several public meetings and States inquiries in the past, the key historical and environmental reasons for this objection remain the same and have therefore been recorded many, many times before.

I wish, however, to remind the planning authorities that, should permission to build be granted, the States of Jersey and its current resident population will be perpetuating the dreadful legacy left to us when the original holiday village was created during the 1950's – a time when building restrictions were virtually non-existent.

Times and circumstances have changed dramatically and it would be totally unthinkable that any developer would even consider building on any of the few remaining accessible coastal headlands Jersey and it's population are still so proud and fortunate to have.

To celebrate the year of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee, retaining the Plemont headland as a glorious open space and key feature of Jersey's quite magnificent north coast would, in my opinion, prove a far better legacy to leave to future generations than a housing commune.

Yours most sincerely,

Michael J Stentiford MBE
