

ACTIVITY RISK GUIDANCE

It's safer to keep the number of people you play with low. Games you can play on your own or with people live you with are much safer than playing with a big group of friends.

Try to keep a safe space from others as much as possible and keep games where you might get a bit closer really short.

Talking in a calm voice and trying not to shout or sing loudly helps to stop the chances of germs spreading.

Stop germs from spreading by washing your hands and trying not to touch toys or games that others might have touched, unless you know they've been cleaned.

Wearing a mask can help stop the spread of germs.

Games and toys, you can play with outside are safer when playing with friends.
