Notes referring to specific items included in the Fee Schedule

Category 1

1. For the purposes of this schedule, a dwelling means a separate and self-contained set of premises that capable of use for residential purposes and includes a house, a flat, a bedsit, self-contained accommodation forming part of a lodging house and staff accommodation. The fee will be charged on the total aggregate floor space of all proposed structures, including those which are a change of use. Floor area calculations are set out in the ‘General’ section below.

2. For conversions of multiple dwellings into a single dwelling, the largest dwelling unit will not be charged. The other dwelling units to be lost to form the single dwelling will be charged as the creation of floor area. For these applications, the fee will be half of the standard rate (half of Category 1A per square metre) of the floor area created.

3. For the creation of multiple dwellings from a single dwelling, the largest dwelling unit proposed will be considered the retention of the single dwelling. The additional, smaller dwelling units will be charged as the creation of floor area under Category 1B. Any extensions to either the retained or new units will be charged under Category 1B.

4. For the purposes of this schedule, the following are regarded as extensions or new buildings: the conversion of an outbuilding, a loft or garage, and the creation of a balcony, roof terrace, garage or carport.

5. For roof structures attached to an existing dwelling that require structural support by the way of additional posts, columns or walls, the fee will be charged as Category 1A per square metre of floor area under the roof profile. For example, covered al fresco areas, car ports, extensions to roofs with one or more open sides, balconies and open porches.

6. Applications which include more than one extension to a building will be calculated by aggregating the floor space of those extensions and applying the single relevant fee. However, where an application includes both new building work and a separate unrelated material alteration, a fee for each element is required.

7. For the construction of a new dwelling, necessary associated work includes new or altered accesses, landscaping works, hardstanding and fences connected to the dwelling. Balconies, terraces, garages, any outbuildings or any garden structures such pergolas or carperts will be charged as part of the floor space calculation.

8. A prefabricated portable dwelling unit is a single storey factory assembled unit intended for short-term residential use.
Category 2
1. For the purposes of this schedule, a material alteration to a building is a change or refurbishment which results in no additional floor space and is not chargeable under Category 4, but which nonetheless affects the building to an appreciable degree, e.g. changes to roof and wall materials or roof alterations not amounting to floor space increases.

Category 3
1. The construction or extension of polytunnels for domestic or commercial use will be charged under Category 3A.
2. All tourism accommodation, including self-catering, is chargeable under Category 3C.
3. Where it is proposed to change the use of land to construct additional development on that land, a fee is payable for both the change of use and the development.
4. For the construction of a new non-residential building, necessary associated work includes new or altered accesses, landscaping works, hardstanding and fences connected to the building.

Category 4
1. Items listed under Categories 4B to 4F include installation, alteration and/or removal.
2. Applications for a non-enclosed swimming pool including associated decking, hard standing or both will be charged a single fee. Applications for decking and hard standing not associated with the construction of a swimming pool will be charged separately.
3. The resubmission of a proposal by the same applicant for a development that is the same character or description (Category 4K) will only be allowed on one occasion. If the original application was withdrawn and a refund made, the resubmission must be accompanied by a payment equivalent to the refund. Any subsequent application must be accompanied by an appropriate fee, including resubmission.

Category 5
1. Outline applications seek to establish the principle of a development. They will only normally be appropriate for major developments and must be accompanied by sufficient information so as to be able to calculate what the fee would have been for an equivalent application for detailed planning permission.
2. Following obtaining outline planning permission there must be a further application for reserved matters of the development. In the case where works are not charged at outline stage because the matters were reserved, the full fee will be charged for those works at reserved matters stage.

General Notes
1. Floor area is the gross internal floor area which means the aggregate of the areas of all floors of the new building or extension, measured to the inside face of the external walls and includes stairs, storage areas, internal walls, partitions and non-habitable floor area.
2. Applications which seek to revise a previously approved scheme will be charged at the full rate of the individual alteration e.g. an increase in the height of the roof would be charged under Category 2. An increase in floor area will be charged at the relevant rate per square metre for the additional floor area created.
3. The fee for proposed mixed use buildings which include new dwellings shall be calculated by adding the dwelling component, calculated under Category 1, to the fee for the remainder of the floor area, calculated under Category 3.
4. For the avoidance of doubt, applications which seek only to demolish a building(s) will be charged under category 3G. In cases where related demolition forms part of a redevelopment, no separate charge is payable.
5. Where it can be demonstrated that exceptional circumstances exist, only the Minister reserves the right to waive all or part of any fee required.
