Your comments

I would like to take this opportunity to write to you to strongly object to the planning application for houses on the headland at Plemont. The holiday park sits in the middle of an important prehistoric landscape site, and should never have been allowed to have been built here in the first place, on such a prominent, important area. To allow further property to be built on this site will just compound the original error.

I understand the economic need for further housing, and am not against a land swap to create houses in less sensitive areas, however the current plan to build on such an important area is whole-heartedly aligned to the profits to be made on the sale of the property at such a prominent site, and has absolutely nothing to do with providing housing for the community.

The States, as trustees of our Island, must work to preserve our important sites, and allow future generations to discover and enjoy our history.

Only on Sunday was I walking in the close proximity of the site and found worked flints and cores, testimony in itself that we stand to lose so much history if we allow this raping of the land to carry on!
